

Online Access

We hope that, through this short tutorial, you, our subscriber, will have the tools that you need to access and begin to enjoy your on line Operative Dentistry subscription.

First, to access Operative Dentistry on line, direct your browser to <http://www.jopdent.org>. This will take you to our journal home page. The most current issue of the journal will be available on the home page. You can click on the link in the OpDent website (<http://www.jopdent.org>). You will not be prompted for a user name or password until you try to access a full text article, which will lead you to...

Logging In

In an effort to make this as simple as possible for everyone, all subscriber user names will be “opdent,” and your password is your customer ID (CID) number. You can find your CID number on the mailing label of your paper issue. All CIDs are eight characters—two letters followed by six digits. Using these instructions will place a temporary “cookie” in your system that will allow you access to other full text articles during the same session. These temporary cookies will expire when you close your browser.

Another option that will be available to you is to register with Allen Press (our e-journal provider). This process places a permanent cookie in your system, so that, whenever you visit the site, all text will be available to you all the time (for the duration of your subscribed year[s]).

Institutional subscribers and their clients will be able to access the journal from any “campus” system. All logged IP addresses of that campus will have unlimited access to the online journal.
