

Departments

---

Faculty Positions

---

Creighton
UNIVERSITY

---

School of Dentistry

Creighton University invites qualified applications for the position of Chair the Department of General Dentistry who will provide vision, leadership, direction, and management of the didactic, pre-clinical and clinical instruction in coordination with the other departments and the School's pre-doctoral curriculum.

This position involves engaging the faculty of the department in teaching, scholarly activity, professional development, and service activities in alignment with the mission and purpose of the department, School and University. The position will need to work well in a collegial environment with other department chairs and leadership of the School to assure that the department is integrated within the School and the University and fosters the continued growth of the school's team practice model and advances the efficient delivery of the department's curriculum. The position includes the opportunity for advancement through rank and tenure processes of the University. DDS/DMD degree or equivalent is required along with eligibility for dental licensure in Nebraska. Preferred qualifications include certificate, Master's or PhD degree in operative or material sciences, or advanced degrees appropriate for academia and the needs of the position.

If interested, please apply via this link: <http://k.rfer.us/CREIGHTONhrP1TB>